Storm Drains Met Crisis of Recent Heavy Rains

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn announced today that all storm drain projects in his district included in the 1952 bond issue for which the county was responsible have now been completed...

avenue storm drain—bond issue amount, $522,200. Project 28—the 88th street, Vermont avenue drain, allocated $148,000.

Proved in Storm The storm drain projects provide major flood control and drainage to large areas along their routes and all have proved highly successful in operation during storms, Supervisor Hahn declared.

First to Finish He pointed out that the second district was the first to have all of the bond issue storm drains out to contract and completed.

The eight projects were allocated a total of $13,574,200 in the bond issue. Hahn said that many of the projects in his district were completed far in advance of the regular construction schedule.

Adequate Drainage "This means that the people that this drain serves will have adequate drainage this year instead of waiting until next winter," he declared, adding that each drain completed ahead of schedule represented a major saving to the people.

The Manhattan Beach boulevard storm drain, known as Project 12, is currently under construction between Dominguez channel at Manhattan Beach boulevard to El Segundo and Aviation boulevards, a distance of four miles.

Other Projects The other county projects in the second district, all of which have now been completed and put in operation, include:

Project number 1—the East Compton Creek drain, allocated $4,597,000 in the bond issue.

Project number 2—the Broadway storm drain in the city of Hawthorne, with an allocation of $335,500.

Project number 4—Crenshaw boulevard storm drain in Inglewood, costing $432,200.

Project number 10—Normandie avenue in Gardena, allocated $1,048,700.

Project number 11—Rosecrans

In addition, the Arlington-Glenburn drain, with plans prepared by the city of Torrance; the Redondo Beach boulevard drain, with plans prepared by Gardena; and the Centinela Creek and Fairview-Hyde Park drains by the city of Inglewood have been built and placed in operation.

Map Cancer Leadership Conference

John L. Barrett, who was recently appointed South Bay area crusade chairman for the American Cancer Society by Walter B. Stones, district crusade chairman, announced that a leadership briefing meeting will be held at the Pen and Grill restaurant, 3421 North Sepulveda, Manhattan Beach, on February 10.

Among those attending who will begin making plans for the annual April fund raising crusade of the American Cancer Society will be: Howard Bagley of Security-First National bank, El Segundo chairman; James W. Munson of the California bank, Harbor City and Lomita chairman; Mrs. Frank Sasine, Hermosa, Beach chairman; Mrs. Milton Feinberg, Hollywood Riviera chairman; Matt Brunning of the Bruno Construction company, Palms Verdes chairman; Mrs. Hugh Stoddard, Portuguese Bend chairman; Donald E. Foss of Bethlehem Pacific Coast Steel corporation, Redondo Beach chairman; Mrs. Joseph Le Conte, Rolling Hills city chairman; John Popovich, advertising and public relations executive, Torrance chairman; Chris Sorensen, Sorensen Realty, Walteria chairman; Walter B. Stoner, district crusade chairman; Allan K. Jonas, district education chairman; and Mrs. Frederick Collister, district residential chairman.

"The success of the Cancer Crusade is entirely dependent upon these chairmen and their volunteer workers," Barrett said, "and we are proud to have such a full-scale campaign committee to organize and coordinate the activities of our annual educational and fund raising crusade. Not only do we hope to reach every resident in these communities with our life-saving cancer message, but we hope to raise sufficient money to carry on the three-fold program of research, education, and service in which the American Cancer Society is actively engaged on a year-round basis. Only in this way can we eventually hope to conquer cancer."

"Fight Cancer With a Check-Up and a Check" will again be the slogan for the Cancer Crusade," Barrett said. "It's a double-barreled slogan that summarizes the twin objectives of our drive: A medical examination by the family physician as a safeguard against the disease and a contribution to advance the fight against it."
